Liability

1. Risk assessment and personal responsibility of the participants:

In the DSV-active declaration for the receipt of their starting pass, the participants have stated in detail that they are aware of the competition-specific risks and dangers and that they accept them. To be further informed that in this respect you may suffer damage to life or limb while exercising your chosen ski discipline. After all, they have undertaken to carry out their own risk assessment to determine whether, based on their individual skills, they are confident enough to cope with the difficulties of the route or facility and are also obliged to point out any safety deficiencies they have recognized. With their start they express on the one hand the suitability of the route and on the other hand they are able to meet the demands of the route. In addition, they have expressly confirmed in the active declaration that they are responsible for the material they use. These declarations are also binding for this competition.

2. Fault of the organizer and his vicarious agents:

The participant in the competition accepts, if he suffers damage in the competition and is of the opinion that the responsible organizer or his vicarious agents are at fault for this, that they are only liable for damage to property in the case of intent or gross negligence. This declaration applies also for the legal successor of the athlete. The participant further declares that he is ready to familiarize himself with the respective competition regulations. If a third party suffers damage through his participation in the competition, he accepts that he alone can bear any liability. It is therefore in your own interest to have sufficient insurance coverage.
